

For Families and Small Groups

We've been having a home Bible study group at our house, and wanted something special for our kids (and any other kids that join in). We've divided the evening into three parts for them. For each part, they can earn a sticker. They can turn in stickers for bigger prizes (you can see our code for prizes at the bottom right).

1. A Verse Review page

2. Overview one book of the Bible

3. A snack and watching Minno (like Christian Netflix)

Each of these three parts is a section of this book. The first section, the verse review pages, are verses that we have memorized with songs over the years. You can find those songs on YouTube, or make up/add your own.

The second section goes through the Bible book by book. You can google Bible book summaries to find the key verse and an overview of what happened, or you can use other resources that we have listed.

The third section we really liked watching What's in the Bible? But there are lots of different things available to study through the Bible for different ages. It was convenient for us to use Minno, but you might find something better works for you!

YOUR NOTES:

5 Stickers =
$1 candy
10 = $3 prize
15 = $5 prize
20 = $7 prize

Our Scripture Journey part 1

#1

Scripture I had memorized in the past

I wrote out ten or so Scripture songs my mom had taught me growing up or that I had learned over the years. I hung them on the wall and put them places I knew I would remember to sing them to my daughters

Bible Verse CDs

I grew up listening to Critter County by Christine Wyrzten on tape (in the verse pages, these are the ones marked "c"). My parents got it on CD, and we got an old CD player for the girls to listen to at night before they sleep. I also had some old CDs I had made of memory songs, and we'd found some other good ones over the years.

AWANA

We loved AWANA, but it was quite a drive from our house and not something we were able to continue. It really motivated my girls (especially my oldest) to memorize Scripture (although it wasn't set to music. I definitely like that kind the best.

#4

Bible Verse Review

I made a simple page where we wrote out verses we had learned from the past, reviewed them, and drew them. The girls liked this activity, and liked the prizes they could earn.

YouTube & Minno

We found the Rizers on Minno, and they are also on YouTube (in the verse pages, these are all the ones marked "r") and actually, you can type quite a lot Scripture into YouTube and get some interesting songs, some better than others. If you go to our YouTube channel "Five Minutes of Fergie" and type in Bible verses, you can find some of our videos we made singing our favorite verses.

Coloring while my Mom read

Some of my first memories are of my mom reading the Bible out loud while I sat on the floor drawing a picture about what she was reading. I am sure some attempts were better than others, but I love this heritage!

Walk Thru the Bible

My church had a "Walk Thru the Bible" class when I was still pretty young, but it was the first time I really understood the whole picture of the Bible and how it fit together, instead of just being lots of stories all over the place. My mom bought their coloring books that has a one page summary on the back of each book of the Bible called OT 39 and NT 27.

#3

Read through the Bible in a Year Bible

For my 18th Birthday, my parents got me the Oswald Chambers Read Through the Bible in a Year Bible. It has a short devotional, some Old Testament, some Psalms and Proverbs, and some New Testament all divided into 365 readings. I continue to use this Bible even today!

What's in the Bible?

The What's in the Bible DVD series is my favorite way of going through the whole Bible with my kids (so far). It is fun and entertaining and very insightful. The visuals are things my children still talk about to explain complicated theology.

YouTube & Google

Honestly, you don't have to buy anything to help you study through the Bible. There are a ton of free resources on YouTube and Google that can give you key verses and quick overviews of what happens in that book. I am sure you have found many of your own favorite resources for studying through the Bible as well!

Jesus Storybook Bible

I honestly don't like most Bibles for little kids, nor find them easy to use. But when we found the Jesus Storybook Bible, it was love at first sight. Especially since we were able to find it in Portuguese and use it while serving in Brazil.

Laugh and Grow Bible for Little ones

The very few faults I had with "Jesus Storybook Bible" were made up and fixed with the Laugh and Grow Bible for Little Ones. So short! So simple! So true! it is a board book! I love those! But it is also only 15 different stories, so that is a bummer

#3

Laugh and Grow Bible for Kids

Luckily, this has 52 stories, done in the same simple and clear style that I loved from the younger Laugh and Grow Bible. This has been, to date, the best Bible storybook for kids, that really covers the whole Bible, rather than just a story here and a story there.

What's in the Bible?

The What's in the Bible DVD series is my favorite way of going through the whole Bible with my kids (that isn't reading). It is fun and entertaining and very insightful. The visuals are things my children still talk about to explain complicated theology. There are 13 parts to this series.

Minno

We don't have a DVD player, and didn't want to spend the money for the What's in the Bible DVDs, but they are all on Minno, as well as all the Veggie Tales (and tons more, but the first two things sold us). This is a monthly subscription like Netflix. When the kids get a bit older, we might switch to Mr.Phil TV, but we need to study up a little more on that, and by then, who knows what will be available?

The next page is a rough outline of how you could go through the year (4 weeks a month) to cover the Bible. It has listed the DVDs of What's In the Bible (WITB) that covers that theme, as well as the stories in Laugh & Learn Bible for Kids that correspond to that week (some do not have a story). The next page shows the same divisions, but with the Jesus Storybook Bible chapters.
